UKIAH ALUMNUS HERE

Guy V. Weller, manager of the Union Lumber Company's big store at Fort Bragg, was a Ukiah visitor the latter part of last week. Mr. Weller formerly attended the Ukiah high school, where he and his brother, Jim, were among the crack athletes who carried the colors of the local institution to victory in competition with the best from all over California on many a field. He was greeted with pleasure by his many friends.

FORT BRAGG ELECTION

FORT BRAGG, April 12.—C. W. Broback, M. D. Gray, Jr., and Ed. Stoddard were elected long term trustees here at the municipal election, out of a field of four candidates. August West was elected short term trustee without opposition.

C. SCHOER JR. RETURNS TO HIS HOME IN NEVADA

The following is an excerpt from the Elko "Free Press" published at Elko, Nevada, on April 12, and contains gratifying information as to the recovery of C. Schoer, Jr., formerly principal of the local high school, and well known to a large circle of friends in this county:

Claud Schoer, who was injured in an auto wreck in California last Christmas and who has been lying in a hospital ever since that time, arrived in town yesterday and today is greeting his many friends. He will go to his home in Clover Valley to-morrow where he will remain for an indefinite period.

Claud had his neck broken in four places when thrown from the auto, and is one of the very few men who lived through such an experience. An X-ray taken soon after the accident shows clearly four of the vertebrae were broken. He is now wearing a leather cast, night and day, and the doctors say that he will fully recover in time. In coming from California he made the trip by easy stages, standing upright in the car all the time, and in going to any place must walk and not ride, as a sudden jolt is apt to dislocate his neck.

He is very cheerful and suffers no pain, and the only nerve that was injured is the one running to his right thumb which is very sensitive.

FRANK ROBERTS HAS NARROW ESCAPE WHEN TRUCK LEAVES GRADE

Frank Roberts, driver of a truck for a local oil company, had a narrow escape from being precipitated into Blue Lakes with his machine last Monday while on his way to Lake county with a load of oil and gasoline.

The steering apparatus of the machine went wrong as the truck was rounding a sharp turn and it plunged down the steep embankment bordering the lake. All that saved the outfit was a small oak tree, which the truck struck squarely in its descent. The drop to the lake at the place where the truck went over is almost sheer.

JURY DISAGREES; CORSO IS FREED

Gio Corso is free this morning as the result of the disagreement of the jury in the second trial. The jury was out about two hours, and Judge White evidently believed that they were in a permanent deadlock, for he summoned them in, discharged them and case aginst Corso was dismissed.

Mrs. Dana Gray, of Fort Bragg, representing one of the women's clubs of that city, is in Ukiah this week in attendance at the club women's convention.

V. R. Frost of Willits was in Ukiah Wednesday.

FEDERATED CLUB WOMEN IN CONVENTION HERE

Large Number of Delegates Attend Sessions Replete With Interesting Features to Which Public is Invited

The eighteenth annual convention of the San Francisco District of the California Federation of Women's Clubs is now in full swing, with over a hundred delegates present from the fourteen counties comprising the district.

The first session was held at the Baptist church at ten o'clock Thursday morning with the president, Dr. Mariana Bertola of San Francisco in the chair, opening with unison singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," led by Mrs. E. L. Waldteufel. Invocation by Mrs. F. W. Grimes was followed by the reading of the Club Woman's Collect by Mrs. A. E. Osborne. Report of committees and officers followed by reports of club presidents occupied the time until the noon recess.

At twelve o'clock a luncheon was served in the Cecille dining room by the hostess clubs, the Saturday Afternoon and Kosmos Clubs of Ukiah. The dining room was beautifully decorated in yellow, great baskets filled with yellow climbing roses and weeping willows depending from the side walls. The tables which were very attractively set were lovely with center pieces of California poppies and maiden hair ferns. The luncheon was delicious consisting of hot rolls, asparagus salad, olives, individual chicken pies, charlotte russe, coffee and cake. Valentine Miller delighted all by the sweet music rendered during the repast

At 1:15 the convention resumed work at the church, opening with "The Long, Long Trail" in unison, led by Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. E. B. Gibson accompanying.

A number of exceedingly interesting talks were made, including one on "Education" by Miss Margaret Curry; "The Immigrant and the Schools" by Miss Ethel Richardson; "False Faces," a very telling discussion of the subject of thrift, by Mrs. E. D. Knight; "Americanization by Mrs. E. J. Wales; "Problems of the Immigrant" by R. Justin Miller, of the State Commission of Immigration and Housing; "Industrial and Social Conditions" by Mrs. A. W. Stokes; "Legislation" by Miss Gail Laughlin; and "The Press" by Mrs. Alma Sullivan Reed. Club presidents reports followed them, some of the things achieved during the year proving very interesting and inspiring.

The evening session was held at the Victory Theatre, presided over by Mrs. F. E. Rea, chairman of the local executive board and opened with unison singing "America." Mayor George Anderson welcomed the club ladies to the city and Dr. Bertola responded gracefully. Delightful musical numbers, "Far, Far Across the Desert Sands," by Amy

"BROWNIES" WILL MEET HOPLAND TEAM SUNDAY

The Ukiah "Brownies" met last Sunday afternoon for the first practice game of the season. Most of the veterans of last year are back in uniform, and the team has been strengthened by the addition of considerable new material. Some sixteen would-be ball players turned out last Sunday and went through a strenuous work out.

H. T. Johnson will manage the team this year. He has made arrangements for a game with Hopland Sunday. The Hopland team has been going like a house afire, and has the advantge of hving played several practice games more than the locals, but the boys here are confident of overcoming the handicap very neatly.

Johnson has not announced an official lineup as yet, but it is pretty certain that Bev. Broaddus and Brown will alternate on the mound. Henry Davidson will play on the second bag, and Eilers will handle the initial sack. Gezelle will play at short. Tuffy Broaddus will be in the field, and Poole will receive.

Who will handle the other positions has not been announced.

BARELY ESCAPES INJURY WHEN TRACTOR OVERTURNS

Only a quick jump and the soft ground saved George Reiners from a badly broken leg last Sunday, when the Fordson tractor which he was operating on the Arch Reynolds place south of town, rose up on its hind wheels, and without any warning tipped over backwards. The boy did not expect the machine to go clear over, and did not jump far enough to be clear of the machine when it hit, and part of the frame caught one of his legs and mashed it into the soft earth. If the ground had been hard the leg would have been completely shattered.

Reiners had been plowing an orchard, but had uncoupled the plow when the tractor sunk into a soft place in the ground. According to witnesses of the accident, Reiners was trying to get the machine out of the soft place when the front end commenced to rise. He shut off the power and threw out the clutch expecting that the machine would right itself again. But with a speed that was strange and rather uncanny the front end continued to rise until it became overbalanced and turned completely over.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

The situation as regards news print paper is becoming very difficult. The supply is being depleted very rapidly and the price is going up steadily. The last quotations are 12 cents per pound, or $240 per ton. Formerly the same paper was purchased by us for $60 per ton.

Advices just received are to the effect that a further raise is in prospect and that the price may eventually go to 20 cents or better.

While many newspapers have been forced to discontinue on account of being unable to obtain paper, the Dispatch-Democrat has been fortunate enough to contract ahead for sufficient to cover its needs for the remainder of this year, but with the price constantly increasing we find it necessary to increase our subscription rates in the near future.

If there is no recession in prices by July 1, we shall be forced to raise our subscription rate to $3.00 per year, taking effect on that date.

Subscriptions which are paid in advance on or before that date will not be affected by the raise until the time for which they have been paid expires, but those in arrears on July 1, will be charged for up to then at the rate of $2.50 and for the time after that at $3.00 per year.

HOPS SELL AT DOLLAR POUND

(Santa Rosa Republican)

Ben F. Baliard, it is reported, has sold a carload of 1919 hops in Sacramento for $1.00 a pound. The hops were from his Sacramento hop fields and he is the first Sonoma county man to receive that price for his product.

It is reported that Elmer Peterson has one bale of last year's crop and has refused $1.00 a pound for it, as he thinks the price will go higher than that. The one bale would bring $200.

BROTHER OF JUDGE HURLEY IS STANFORD GRADUATE

Among the list of students who recently graduated from Stanford University, we notice the name of Charles C. Hurley, son of Richard Hurley of Albion and brother of Attorney Hurley of this place. He is one of a family of nine boys and the third member to graduate from Stanford. He also served during the war and is to be congratulated on the successful termination of his educational career.

TAYLOR HOWARD LAID TO REST SUNDAY

The remains of Taylor Howard, who passed away last Friday, were laid to rest last Sunday afternoon at the family plot near the old Howard home, a large number of friends and relatives attending the obsequies, which were conducted by Rev. Elbert Holland, of the Christian church.

Mr. Howard was born in McDonald county, Missouri, on January 22, 1848, and was one of twins, the other being Scott, who preceded his brother to the grave October 22, last. The family crossed the plains when Taylor was eight years of age, eventually settling in Ukiah in 1858.

Taylor and Scott, who were named after the two most prominent American generals in the Mexican war, married sisters, Kate and Mary Chase, respectively, August 22, 1875, Taylor's wife passing away November 26, 1885.

TOIVARI AND WIFE UP FOR ARRAIGNMENT TUESDAY

Peter Toivari and his wife, Elda Toivari, accused of distributing I. W. W. literature in Fort Bragg, came up for their preliminary examination in the justice court last Tuesday and entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. Judge Hurley fixed their bail at $2500 each. The bail was not furnished and the couple are still in the county jail.

The authorities are waiting for some action upon the part of the Federal authorities at San Francisco who have been informed of the case and have been sent the literature that the couple were distributing widespread in the coast section. If the Federal authorities take no action in the matter the Toivaris will be prosecuted in the superior court here.

MIXUP OVER RANCH DEAL MAY OCCASION LAW SUIT

SALE OF CUNNINGHAM PLACE TO KIRK FORD IS CAUSE OF 3-SIDED DISPUTE

A three-sided dispute originating in the sale of the Joe Cunningham ranch near the asylum to Kirk Ford may end in a law suit if none of the parties recede from their positions as taken yesterday.

Ford, dealing with Curtis A. Miller Co., local real estate agents, who were represeting Cunningham, bought the ranch, paying $1,000 down to bind the bargain until the titles could be passed upon by his attorneys. The total purchase price as quoted by Miller was to be $72,000, of which half was to be paid on delivery of deed and the balance on time.

After the deposit was paid Cunningham received an offer of $10,000 more from a Healdsburg party and desired to withdraw from the bargain with Ford. The latter insists on holding him to it, however.

The third element in the controversey is the disinclination on the part of Cunningham to pay the commission on the sale to Miller should the deal be called off. Miller claims that he is entitled to the commission at the agreed rate, whether the deal is called off or not, the amount being $3750.

Incidentally the the sale price sets a new high figure on local real estate, the ranch consisting of 50 acres, which brings the rate up to $1500 per acre. It is considered one of the best pieces of hop land in the valley.

J. M. LUCE ANNOUNCES FOR SUPERVISOR OF 2ND

One more contestant enters the supervisorial fight in this, the second, district, this week in the person of J. M. Luce, whose announcement appears in the proper columns of this week's Dispatch-Democrat. Mr. Luce is the fourth candidate to announce for this nomination.

Mr. Luce has resided in the community since 1877, when he first came to Ukiah at the age of five years with his parents. His father was an active politician of the early days and himself was supervisor of the district at one time, serving his constitutency with much credit.

Mr. Luce will make his campaign on general efficiency in all matters coming before the supervisors and if nominated and elected, promises better roads to the taxpayers of the district for less money than at present expended on them. He has had a great deal of experience as road foreman under various supervisors and is well qualified to serve the people in the office he seeks.

DEATH OF MRS. HILLEGAS

Lee Silveria Dies Suddenly at Sherwood

Lee Silveria of Sherwood died very suddenly at his home in Sherwood early Wednesday morning. The cause of death was said to have been heart trouble.

The deceased has been a resident of the Sherwood section for some time, and leaves a wide circle of friends who will join with his relatives in mourning his untimely death. He is survived by a widow, formerly Beatrice Bailey, of Ukiah, two children, a brother, and a sister.

LATER—On account of some puzzling features connected with Silveria's death an inquest was held by Coroner R. L. Cleveland, he and Sheriff Byrnes going up to Willits last night. The investigation disclosed heart trouble as the cause of death.

WILLITS NEWS OF PAST WEEK

WILLITS, April 12.GSaturday night "Uncle Rube" was played by an amateur troupe from Fort Bragg. The play was given under the auspices of Willits Post American Legion and they had a record breaking house. Every seat was taken and standing room in the rear was at a premium. The play was a scream from start to finish and all of the actors and actresses were exceptionally good. The net proceeds will go into a fund for furnishing the club rooms for Willits Post. A large delegation motored up from Ukiah to attend the play. After the play the young people danced until 3:00 o'clock the following morning.

Willits expects to shine big on the baseball map this season. We now have a number of splendid players living here and we will not be compelled to go outside for talent as we also have several players for substitutes. Harry Burke has been elected manager, Hank Davidson assistant manager and Louis Lockhart field captain. The boys have already started to practice and they hope to have their opening game here on May 2. Fort Bragg and Ukiah have already been challanged for a game.

Frank W. Johnson and Attorney F. W. Taft spent several days in Eureka last week where they closed the deal for the purchase of the steamship Corona, which was wrecked on the Humboldt bar in 1908. She is 225 feet long and has a 35 foot beam. The ship is now covered with six feet of sand. Mr. Johnson expects to excavate the ship, and if he succeeds he will own a vessel worth at least $200,000. He has gone to San Francisco to buy some additional equipment to do the work with.

Mrs. George Lantz died at Vallejo April 6, and the remains were brought to Willits for burial beside her mother. The deceased was born in Illinois and was 35 years of age. Ten years ago the family located near Dos Rios and she lived there six years. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon.

The town election held here yesterday was a very quiet affair. There were only 169 votes polled and there should have been three times that number. J. C. Duffield for town clerk, and H. B. Ramsey for town treasurer, had no opposition. We elected three town trustees and there were four candidates. Mrs. Mary Biggs was one of the successful candidtaes and she is the first woman to be elected to that position in Mendocino county . The two other trustees elected were N. B. Barnwell and Ira Ordway.

WHERE ESKIMO IS SUPERIOR

Home Life Declared by Stefansson to Be Practically Ideal—Hospitable in the Extreme.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, in writing of his 13 months' stay among the Eskimos, tells of their great kindness to a guest who could not pay for his keep, says Harper's, a stranger whose purpose among them they did not know, thus:

"In an Eskimo home I have never heard an unpleasant word between a man and his wife, never seen a child punished nor an old person treated inconsiderately. The household affairs are carried on in an orderly way and the good behavior of the children is remarked by practically every traveler.

"In many things we are the superiors of the Eskimo and in a few we are his inferiors. The moral value of some of his superiority is small. He can make better garments against cold than our tailors and furriers; he can thrive in barren wastes where a New Englander would starve.

"But of some of his superiority the moral value is great. He has developed individual quality further than we, he is less selfish, more helpful to his fellows, kinder to his wife, gentler to his child, more reticent about the faults of his neighbor than any but the rarest and best of our race.

"When I tried to express thanks for their kindness in my fragmentary Eskimo, they were more surprised than pleased.

"'Do, then, in the white man's land, some starve and shiver while others eat much and are warmly clad?'

"To that question I said 'No,' although I knew I was lying. I was afraid the competitive system could not be explained to them satisfactorily; neither was I, being the poorest among them, very anxious to try justifying it."

OLDEST OF FRENCH JOURNALS

Gazette de France Was First Published 238 Years Ago, and Is Still in Existence.

The first number of the Gazette de France, the oldest newspaper in France, was published 283 years ago, May 30, 1631, under the editorial direction of Doctor Renaudot. This most powerful of the early journalists of France was born in 1584 and, after graduating in medicine, established himself in Paris about 1612. Richelieu and Pierre d'Hoziner, the genealogist, are said to have inspired Renaudot in establishing the Gazette, which was published weekly and consisted of two small sheets, the first bearing the title of Gazette and the second Nouvelles Ordinaires de Divers Endroits. Doctor Renaudot established the precedent, long followed in European journalism and by no means extinct, of presenting foreign news first and relegating domestic and local news to the last page. Soon after the establishment of the Gazette Doctor Renaudot was granted an exclusive monopoly of printing and selling newspapers in France. When the founder died in 1653 the Gazette passed to his sons. The title of Gazette de France was first used in the middle of the eighteenth century. It has been published under that title ever since, with the exception of a brief period during the revolution of 1848, when the name was temporarily changed to Le People Francais.

Improved Rivet Cutter.

A pneumatic rivet cutter for use in structural steel work and in repair shops consists of a long barrel, with compressed air connection at one end and a chisel at the other, the stem of the chisel being held by a coiled spring, which draws it back after each stroke. A plunger travels freely in the barrel or tube, and a small bypass pipe connects the ends of this tube. Two men are employed, the one at the rear operating the valve and the one at the front keeping the chisel against the rivet head. The force of the blow can be regulated by the valve. Air pressure of 30 to 90 pounds may be used, the higher pressure being the more effective. A punch can be inserted in place of the chisel for backing out the rivets. In the larger size the stroke is 40 inches, and the weight of the machine complete is only 65 pounds. A smaller size will cut rivets up to three-eighths of an inch in diameter.

When Bitten by a Mad Dog.

When bitten by an animal that is suspected as mad, the best thing to do, according to Drs. J. C. Regan and A. Silkman of New York, who describe a recent case in Archives of Diagnosis, is to squeeze the wound to encourage bleeding, wash it with a solution of mercuric chloride (1 in 1,000), cauterize it with fuming nitric acid, and apply a wet dressing of the mercuric chloride solution.

The wound should never be sewn up; if a deep punctured wound, it should be cut open with a scalpel.

The sooner this treatment is applied the more likely it is to be successful. Afterward the routine Pasteur treatment should be taken.

In the Future.

Recently several airplanes were moving over the Circle, and the usual crowd had stopped to watch them. An old woman in the crowd began counting. "One, two, three, four, five," she counted. "Five of those things."

Then she turned to the man nearest her. "Did you ever see the like?" she asked. "Five of those things. Why, pretty soon the atmosphere will be just lousy with them."—Indianapolis News.

IDEA ORIGINATED IN ORIENT

Finger-Print System Claimed to Have Been in Use in Far East for Many Years.

The finger-print system that sleuths all over the world have successfully used in catching desperate criminals was the invention of orientals, either Chinese or Japanese, according to Filipo de Filippi, writing in Nature. The discovery was originally credited to Sir W. Herschel, in a parliamentary blue book, but Kumagusus Minakata, a Japanese, proved the case for the East.

No one in the controversy quoted Rashid-ud-din, who wrote about the system in use in Cathay even in his day. It was a finger-print system of a sort, although not like that in use today. There was no blackening of the hands prior to the taking of the impression, but rather the hand was placed on paper and traced by the person taking the print. The hands of contracting parties were always placed on deeds in those days.

De Filippi says that this ancient system is worthy of investigation today, as study of the drawings shows a distinct difference in the outlines of fingers of the hands of different individuals, in the length of the fingers, the relative distance made by the axis of the thumb and the axis of the first finger, and in many other ways.

EATS IN PECULIAR POSITION

Nature has so created the beautiful flamingo that he does some things both backwards and upside down. For one thing, he eats with the crown of his head on the ground, in the bottom of some shallow stream. From one glance at his jaw one would think it was badly broken. Instead, his bill is in perfect working order, only things are reversed with it, and his lower jaw is securely fixed, while his upper jaw is movable. Both portions of his big beak are arranged in a series of thin plates, like the bills of all members of the duck family, so that he can easily sift the nice squirmy things he likes from the soft mud.

Flamingoes frequent salt marshes, and when these become dry will then go long distance to find others. Florida used to be the birds' happy hunting ground and many lovely members of the family could be met in other countries. Very few of them are left now, and those surviving are very shy of the hunter, and seldom seen. Very few are left in this country, and bird lovers predict that in a few years more they will become extinct.

Still Use Dogs in Alps.

Although the tunnels which now connect Switzerland with Italy have greatly decreased the importance of the St. Bernard and other passes, especially during the eight months of snow, it is still deemed advisable to employ St. Bernard dogs. It is no longer customary, however, to send out the dogs alone with baskets of food and drink; a man always accompanies them. These dogs are not really of the famous old St. Bernard breed. That originated in the fourteenth century, through a cross between a shepherd dog from Wales and a Scandinavian dog whose parents were a Great Dane and a Pyrenean mastiff. The last pure descendant of this tribe was buried under an avalanche in 1816. Fortunately, there were found subsequently at Martigny and on the Simplon pass a few dogs which by crossing with mates from Wales, yielded the modern St. Bernard dog, which is physically even stronger than his medieval namesake, and shares most of his traits.

Horse Lore.

It is found that there is a very definite connection between the coat color of horses and the frequency with which white markings occur. Thus the latter are by far the most commonly associated with the chestnut color. And not only are they the most prevalent in chestnut horses, but it is also, of course, a well-known fact that the markings are apt to be more extended in nature in the case of this color than in that of any other. Chestnut, therefore, apparently possesses, so to speak, a special affinity for these markings. Bay ranks next as regards the degree of frequency with which white markings appear in horses of this color, although it comes a good way behind chestnut in this respect. Then follows brown, while the white marks are met with less frequently among black and roan-colored horses—Indianapolis News.

In the Age of Chivalry.

Most persons will be surprised to hear that the idea of women requiring escort, especially of a really protective nature, is of comparatively modern origin. But such appears to be the case. Nothing strikes one more forcibly in the study of medieval literature than the absolute freedom women enjoyed to travel and wander alone without fear of molestation. The times were unsettled undoubtedly, and men lived for fighting only. But, nevertheless, the helpless and defenseless were safe enough so far as one can judge from contemporary literature. It is not to be denied that they came to grief occasionally, but as a general rule men respected the other sex in the days of chivalry, and even the worst of scoundrels allowed an unprotected woman to ride by unharmed.

MANY FAIRIES IN GREEN ISLE

Idea That the Gnomes Have Disappeared Is Declared to Be Altogether Erroneous.

There still are fairies in Ireland, declares the Ulster Folklore, which explains by saying: To many, perhaps, this statement will be really news. Of course, anyone who has never taken any interest in the matter at all knows that in the days gone by there were plenty of them from one end of the green isle to the other—are not their old haunts, the thorn bushes, their raths, forts, coves and souterraines still to be found in every corner of Ireland just as they have existed since time out of mind?

But it has been the general belief that the fairies themselves long ago, in one fashion or another, had forsaken or been driven from their secret places, the last hegira being placed at as modern a period as the middle of the nineteenth century—the night of the big wind, in fact when they were all supposed to have been blown into the sea with the exception of a few that landed in Scotland.

The error of that belief, however, has been scientifically ascertained in a series of investigations pursued by Miss Elizabeth Andrews, F. R. A. I., for a decade or so.

"The belief is general," Miss Andrews says, "that these little people were at one time very numerous throughout the country, but have now disappeared from many of their former haunts. At Ballynahinch I was told they had been blown away 50 years ago by a great storm, and the caretaker at Killevy said they had gone to Scotland. They are, however, supposed still to inhabit the more remote parts of the country, and the old people have many stories of fairy visitors and of what happened in their own youth and in the time of their fathers and grandfathers."

TRY A WANT AD—IT PAYS.

WAS PIONEER IN WIRELESS

James Bowman Lindsay, Scottish Engineer, Has Not Been Given the Credit He Deserves.

Little is heard about James Bowman Lindsay, and much about wireless telegraphy, yet the career of the one and the history of the other are inseparable, says the Christian Science Monitor. Upwards of sixty years ago Bowman Lindsay operated a system across the River Tay, a distance of one and a half miles, just above the bridge the construction of which ranks as one of the most notable feats in engineering. His efforts failed to attract attention at the time, however, because of his retiring disposition, but the history of electrical research records few names more deserving of respect than his. He was a pioneer in the application of electricity for heating and lighting purposes and bespoke a great future for it.

Apropos of Bowman Lindsay, as he was familiarly known, it is interesting to note that his energies were not wholly directed to the advancement of the mechanical arts. He was a linguist and as such started out to translate the Bible into many different languages. Seven years' labor was expended on the task, and the work was far from being finished when it had to be abandoned. The Bible, in incomplete form, may still be seen in the Albert Institute, Dundee, Scotland. It lies open in a glass case and shows that the method employed was to divide the book into the requisite number of columns and in each column place the words in English and their equivalent in each language into which they were translated.

—and for 34 Years Work

THAT is the kind of increase in salary the minister has received. His living expenses have risen just as fast and as far as yours.

But he is paid on the average just 52 cents more per church member than he was paid 34 years ago.

The Minister Never Fails You

Every officer of the Government with a war message to deliver appealed to the ministers first of all.

But 80% of the ministers receive less income than government economists figure as a minimum for the support of an average family.

But when sickness visits the minister or the members of his family they must be treated in a charity ward. His pay is less than a day laborer's.

8 out of every 10 ministers receive less than $20 a week—about half the pay of a mechanic.

We Pay Him Half the Wages of a Mechanic

And of these pitifully inadequate salaries, how much do you contribute? Nothing if you are outside the church; an average of less than 3c a day if you are a church member.

All of us share in the benefits of Christian ministers to the community. They marry us; bury us; baptize our children; visit us when we are sick. In their hands is the spiritual training of the youth.

We Are All Profiteers at Their Expense

Part of the Interchurch World program is this—a living wage for every minister of Jesus Christ; an efficient plant, and a chance to do a big man's job.

If you want better preachers, help to pay the preachers better. It's the best investment for your community—and for your children—that you can ever make.

Hopland opened the baseball season Sunday, April 11, by walloping the Ukiah Union Indian ball team by a large one-sided score of 20 to 1. Babcock allowed one hit, and struck out 18 men. Bill Young, the hard hitting right fielder soused the apple out of the lot for two homers.

"BORN OF FIRE AND BLOOD"

"In Flanders Fields," to quote the words of Major General Morrison, who commanded the brigade to which Lieutenant Colonel McCrea was attached at the time, "was literally born of fire and blood during the hottest phase of the second battle of Ypres.

"My headquarters were in a trench on the top of the bank of the Ypres canal; and John had his dressing station in a hole dug in the foot of the bank. During periods of the battle men who were shot actually rolled down the bank into his dressing station. Along from us a few hundred yards was the headquarters of a regiment, and many times during the 16 days of the battle, he and I watched them burying their dead whenever there was a lull. Thus the crosses, row on row, grew into a good-sized cemetery.

"Just as he describes, we often heard the larks singing high in the air, between the crash of the shell and the reports of the guns in the battery just beside us. I have a letter from him in which he mentions having written the poem to pass away the time between the arrival of batches of wounded, and partly as an experiment with several varieties of poetic meter."

The unit with which McCrae served was the most advanced of all the allies' guns by a good deal, except one French battery, which stayed in a position yet more advanced for two days, and then had to be taken out.

MANY SEEK COVETED TITLE

Thousands of Young Chinamen Undergo Severe Examination in Hope of Becoming Mandarins.

Though Chinese education is gradually undergoing change, candidates for the title of mandarin still gather at three-year intervals in Chinese cities, and the examiners sit in their robes of state under their umbrellas and conduct the examinations.

Many of the younger generation nowadays have imbibed a western idea of education; but many still begin with the Book of Three Characters, the Book of a Hundred Families and the Book of a Thousand Words, and pursue an educational system that is held to be more than 30 centuries old, to the ultimate triumph of becoming mandarins and enjoying the ceremonial honors, distinctive costume and an individual reputation for wisdom and learning, that go with the title. The examination consists in the writing of philosophical and political essays, exposition of the sayings of Confuclus, commenting on Chinese texts and the composition of sentences and maxims in prose and verse.

The number of candidates at such examinations still counts up into the thousands. Sometimes their failures, one might say, in the phrase with which western editors return ambitious contributions, have been "due to no lack of merit," for the number of vacancies to be filled at any one time in the list of mandarins is very small compared with the number of candidates.—Christian Science Monitor.

Ponds Like Pools of Ink.

In cross-country flying, clear, quiescent ponds of water are usually the darkest areas in the landscape. Often they appear like pools of ink and their relative brightness is much less than that of black velvet. This is easily explained. The water is perfectly clear and the bottom is black and porous. Little or no light is reflected except from the surface.

Incidentally a pond of this type provides the best mirror in the landscape, for its background is almost perfectly dark, which is not the case for turbid water. If one watches very carefully he can detect the image of the airplane reflected in the water without difficulty at 2,000 or 3,000 feet. This gives a true vertical line which may be of use on some occasions. At least observation of this image gives a record of the horizontal speed regardless of other movements of the airplane. —M. Luckiesh in the Scientific American.

Harvest and Hunter's Moon.

The full moon nearest the autumnal equinox (September 22) is known as the "harvest moon." Owing to the occurrence of minimum retardation in the time of rising at that period, this moon rises at nearly the same time on several successive nights. It rises early and gives the husbandmen who have been playing golf all day an opportunity to gather their crops, hence its name. The "hunter's moon" is the moon following the "harvest moon." The occasion for its name is obvious. It occurs at the season of the year when the country youth, the harvest having been gathered, slings his gun over his shoulder and wanders through the woods in search of the gray squirrel and other larger game.

Aces Up.

Young Lawyer—If your honor pleases, we will show that appellate courts have decided on similar pleadings that wherein plaintiff's witness had appeared with evidence after having been subpoenaed duces tecum—

His Honor (accustomed to hearing gamblers in police court)—Wait a minute there. You say, "deuces take 'em." Well, this court decidedly will not admit "deuces take 'em." Generally speaking, it always has been held that aces beat 'em.

WHERE MOLE BEATS MONKEY

Simian Is Comparatively Helpless in the Water, as Are Many of the Land Birds.

Have you ever noticed a gull dropping on the sea—how it spreads its wings high so that the feathers shall not be wetted? If a gull's wing feathers get wet it cannot rise until they dry, says a writer in London Tit-Bits.

Throw a mouse into the water. It can swim a little, but as soon as its fur is soaked down it goes, and drowns. So, too, in the case of a rabbit. As soon as its fur is wet it is done for.

A mole can swim like anything, but a monkey is very helpless in the water. Almost all land birds drown very rapidly if unlucky enough to fall into the water. They strike out with their legs, move round and round in a circle, but cannot get off the water.

Lions and tigers are very good swimmers, and do not share the common cats' hatred for the water. But of all the cat tribe, the South American jaguar is the finest performer in the water. It seems often to plunge in for mere joy of a swim.

A rabbit, as we have said, drowns as soon as its fur is soaked through, yet curiously enough its near relative, the hare, swims quite well, and will often cross a river when hunted.

Bears are good swimmers, even those that usually live far from large sheets of water, and the common rat is no mean performer.

One of the best of animal swimmers is the horse. Horses have been known to swim a river nearly a mile wide simply to get back to their old stables.

Deer, too, can all swim well. There are cases of caribou having swum across lakes ten miles wide when escaping from forest fires.

ALCOHOL GROWS ON TREES

Alcohol in these days has attention from governments in diverse ways. England has had a committee studying the possibilities of increasing the production of alcohol to be used in generating power.

The opportunities discussed by the committee are interesting. Of course, potatoes, artichokes and cereals came in for attention. But it seems there are less known sources of alcohol. For example, there is the flower of the mahua tree, which flourishes in Hyderabad and the central part of India. This flower, when sun dried, contains 6 per cent of its weight in fermentable sugar, and apparently is to be gathered by the ton. Then there are the fertile gases of the coke ovens. They are so rich in surprises to the everyday man that it is not very startling to learn they contain ethylene, which by synthetic processes somewhat developed under the stress of war may be converted into ethyl alcohol.

With the coal beds about to produce alcohol, and the trees of India fairly blossoming with it, the man with a motor car may quiet the fears aroused by the scientists' figures which show that we are in sight of the end of petroleum and gasoline. There is nothing like being easy in one's mind.—The Nation's Bulletin.

American Buys Franklin Portrait.

A portrait of Benjamin Franklin, painted in Paris in 1778 by Joseph Siffrede Duplessis, and showing him as the American ambassador whom Parisians of that period knew, has arrived in this country, the property of Michael Friedsam, the New York Evening Post states. Franklin presented the portrait to the Freres Perier, engineers and owners of the Chaillot fire engine, when he left France, and it was from the Perier family that Mr. Friedsam purchased it this year.

The portrait, whose gorgeous frame of the period is carved in the form of a serpent, is said to be typical of the best work of Duplessis, who was made a member of the academy in 1774, and was later appointed conservator of the museum of Versailles. In Versailles is a street called Duplessis, and a statue of him stands in a public square of the city.

Only Live Okapi in Captivity.

The only live okapi in captivity has been brought to Antwerp from the Congo. The okapi is the survivor of a distant ancestor of the giraffe. An adult stands about five feet high, and although it has the general shape of the giraffe, its neck is relatively shorter and its forelegs are not so high in proportion to the hindquarters.

The sides of the animal's head are light fawn color and the general coloration of the body is a dark purple. The most striking characteristic is that the rump, and the upper part of the legs are transversely striped with black and white. It was first known in 1901, having been found in the Semliki forest, haunting low undergrowth and swamps.

Getting On.

"How did that actress ever secure an engagement, I wonder?"

"Why, didn't you read about it? She applied to a manager who refused to listen to her and she shot him. Then she had several offers."

She Refuses to Go Dry.

"I'll say this for the wife."

"What?"

THE AMERICAN'S CREED

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of Freedom, Equality, Justice, and Humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its Flag; and to defend it against all enemies.

A BIG SUCCESS

The Wild Flower Show is going on [illegible] at the Public Library and a most attractive and interesting exhibit of our local flora it is. If you have not yet seen the masses of wild flowers, in such quantity and variety and so artistically arranged, make your plans to drop in this afternoon or to-morrow and see for yourself what a splendid showing is made. Perhaps of greatest interest are the exhibits of a number of rural schools, Mill Creek, Willow, Forsythe and others. On one table, that of the Forsythe school are sixty-one varities of blooms and so cleverly arranged as to resemble a beautiful mosaic. Several local clubs have tasteful exhibits, that of the Cultus Club being unique and artistic, combining many varities of plant life in an arrangement showing something of the habits of the plants exhibited. There are many attractive exhibits by individual children well worthy of your careful notice. Also there are several interesting showings of novelties, among them one of plants from a sand dune ranch on the coast and some interesting specimens sent by the California Botanical Society.

The prizes will be awarded on Saturday afternoon at four o'clock by Mr. William Bromley, president of board of library trustees. To much credit cannot be given Mrs. Burrey for the infinite pains she has taken in preparing for and carrying this exhibit out and for the very excellent results achieved. It is especially pleasing that she has been able to time it as one of the features to the visitors in our town in attendance at the Convention of Federated Clubs.

INTER-CHURCH CONFERENCE

Delegates from the Methodist and Baptist churches of Carpar, Covelo, Willits, Potter Valley, Lakeport and Ukiah met at St. John's M. E. Church for a day's conference on the Inter-Church Movement.

The opening service was held at 9:30, Rev. Willard Fuller presiding, with an address by Howard C. White of Berkeley, and a report of the county servey by Rev. Brink.

At one o'clock denominational conferences were held at both Baptist and Methodist Churches. At 2:30, with Dr. A. C. Stevens presiding, short talks on the Inter-Cuhrch work were given by Mrs. W. H. Blosser, Dr. A. H. Briggs, and Dr. S. F. Kelsey of San Francisco and Rev. Brinstead of Berkeley.

At five o'clock a basket lunch was served, followed by a young people's conference. Beginning at 7:30 short a[illegible] given by Dr. J. E. Moore, Rev. Boller of Covelo, Rev. Brink, Dr. Van Allen and Mrs. Blosser. Dr. A. H. Briggs discussed the Harris Amendment. Dr. Kelsey then gave a most interesting stereoptican lecture on "What the Missionary Boards Need and Hope to Do," being a world survey of the Missionary field.

The music at all sessions was led by Rev. Harris of Caspar. In spite of the very stormy weather the attendance was good, the church being full at the evening session.

DINNER AND DANCE CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY OF WALLACH TWINS

Last Friday was the twenty-first anniversary of Beatrice and Ronald Wallach of Bell Valley, and the coming of the age of the twins was celebrated by an old fashioned barn dance. A delicious dinner was served at noon, by the family and near friends only. At about seven o'clock about a hundred guests assembled for the dance, music for which was furnished by Church and Howell. This delightful pastime was enjoyed till midnight when light refreshments were served, after which the party dispersed with many good wishes for the brother and sister. Ronald had come over from Albion for the party and was accompanied by Mr. Sunquist of that place. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. HIGH SCHOOL TEAM FOURTH IN MEET

RICHARDSON BREAKS SCHOOL RECORD FOR POLE VAULT; BECKLEY IS SECOND

The quintet of athletes which represented Ukiah at the C. I. F. meet held at Stanford University last Saturday accumulated 16 points in the meet, and by so doing tie with Sebastopol for fourth place. Representatives from practically every large high school in northern California competed in the meet and the local boys deserve a great deal of credit for the splendid showing that they made.

"Fuzzy" Richardson of Ukiah was the individual star of the local team, breaking the high school pole vault record by topping the bar at 12 feet, and tieing for first place in the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 9 inches. Beckley won second in the pole vault and also placed in the 100 and 200 yard dashes. Had more of the local team been able to get in training for the meet the boys would have netted several more points, for McClellan is capable of hurling the javelin around 140 feet while the best throw in the meet Saturday was 133 feet and some inches.

Another Oil Concern To Try at Point Arena

According to the Point Arena Record, I. L. Pierce, who has been in that vicinity for several days investigating the oil well proposition, has become satisfied with the prospects and left the latter part of last week, after securing the promise of the options he desired from the land owners. In San Francisco he conferred with his associates, and canvassed the situation of the machinery market, casing, etc., necessary to carry on the enterprise.

A casual investigation recently made by Mr. Pierce and associates, says the Record, develops the fact that as compared with one year ago, this will be an easy matter, though absolute certainty as to shipment and delivery is largely subject to overcrowded conditions already existing both in railway and steamer circles. It is the aim of the concern to hurry forward the work of installing, and a three-shift crew will prosecute the sinking of a well with vigor. As a matter of fact something really tangible now seems visible in the way of oil exploitation and every aid should be given our local contingent.

TWO COUNTY CONFERENCE HELD HERE WEDNESDAY

RAIN INTERFERES WITH ATTENDANCE BUT SESSION IS PROFITABLE ONE

The confernce of delegates from Lake and Mendocino counties in connection with the Interchurch World Movement was held last Wednesday in this city at St. John's M. E. Church, there being a good representation from Willits, Caspar, Covelo, Round Valley and Lakeport.

The morning session was presided over by Willard Fuller, county united campaign director, and the afternoon sessions by Dr. H. C. Stevens, of the visiting team from San Fran-

Addresses were given by local speakers and by Dr. Stevens, Dr. A. H. Briggs, Dr. C. W. Brinstad, and Mrs. R. W. Blosser.

At the evening session Dr. H. H. Kelsey, with stereopticon views gave some graphic views of world conditions, showing something of the extent of human needs.

The rain interfered with the attendance, but the sessions were very profitable, and the interest was good.

The denominational session at the Baptist Church was large, and Dr. Brinstad, the State Promotion Director of the General Board of Promotion, gave an inspiring address.

Dr. Brinstad closed by announcing that the quota of the local Baptist Church on the $100,000,000 stride of the denomination is $18,000.

Of the visiting team, Dr. Briggs represented the M. E. Church, Dr. Kelsey, the Congregational Church, Dr. Brinstad, the Baptist Church and Mrs. Blosser and Dr. Stevens the Christian Church.

TRUCK SHORTAGE LOOMS, SAY REPUBLIC OFFICIALS

The announcement made in the San Francisco papers several weeks ago that there will be a shortage of motor trucks this year, has been verified by a letter just received by Patteson Brothers Motor Company, Republic Truck distributors, from the Pioneer Motor Company, who handle the Republic Truck sales on the Pacific Coast. Notwithstanding the fact that the Republic Company are the largest builders of trucks in the world, they are unable to keep up with their orders, and shipments cannot be guaranteed inside of 60 or 90 days.

This condition exists in all the other factories and an appeal is sent out to the truck buying public to place orders now. This is of vital importance to the rancher who is contemplating buying a truck. His crops must be moved on time, every day's delay may mean hundreds of dollars loss.

The outlook for bumper crops in Lake and Mendocino counties is the brightest in years, and the rancher who has his truck ordered can feel assured of the most profitable year in the history of these counties.

PLAYGROUND MEASURE IS ONLY ONE TO PASS

Remaining Proposals Defeated Decisively By Voters Monday. Mayor Anderson Popular Official

The citizens of Ukiah showed most decisively last Monday that they did not want to purchase the gas plant, that they were well satisfied to elect their city treasurer and city clerk instead of having them appointed by the board of trustees, and that they desire a playground made of the present property located at the junction of the state highway and the aslyum road in the southern part of town.

Also that Mayor Anderson is the most popular of our city officials, he having received the largest vote of any on the ticket.

The surprise of the election was the easy victory of J. H. Carothers, candidate for city clerk, over his two competitors, Willis H. Prather and Mrs. Louise Oncken. Carothers received a total vote of 474 to 154 for Prather and 66 for Mrs. Oncken.

There was a total vote of about 700.

General Drenching Insures Good Crops

The weather prognastications that April would be a wet month have been fulfilled thus far and indications are that rain will ensue during the remainder of the month. During the last drenching 1.43 inches of rain fell in two days, and Russian River is reported as having been higher than during any storm this season. Some little snow fell on the higher mountains, but in general the rain has been a warm one, and has done a world of good throughout the state as it is reported as having been general in the northern counties. The indications are now that this year's crops will be heavier than any during the last five years.

An Amusing Experiment With Use of Pasteboard Box and Cigarette or Pipe Smoke.

Take a small pasteboard box, seal the cover tight and draw a funny face upon its cover. Cut an opening for the mouth and fill the box with smoke. Then, with quick, light taps, strike the bottom of the box and a series of perfect smoke rings will issue from the hole. A hundred or more rings can be thrown out of the box with only one filling of smoke. This is an easy way to study the seeming mystery of smoke rings. As the smoke is forced out it strikes the still air outside and immediately breaks in the middle, forming a "doughnut" ring, which turns very rapidly on an axis lying in the center of the rim of smoke.—Dale R. HOPLAND NOTES

OLD BURGLARY MYSTERY AT HOPLAND CLEARED

OTHER NOTES OF INTEREST FROM OUR REPRESENTATIVE IN SANEL SECTION

Lon McKelley, ex-sheriff of Lake county, is now connected with the Lake County Transportation Company, running auto stages and baggage, express and freight trucks between Hopland and Lakeport.

Recently discussing our post office robbery in Hopland over two years ago, and the part played by the "jimmy" and the marks made, still in evidence, Mr. McKelley as an expert examined the marks, and concluded that he is owner of the "jimmy" that made the marks. So [illegible] "jimmy" over from Lakeport, and by all tests, it is evidently the very same one used in the robbery. The Middletown post office in Lake county was robbed only a few nights after the Hopland post office robbery, and after a race of twenty-three days, Mr. McKelley caught two of the robbers, and they were convicted, and the last official act he performed was to deliver these two to the penitentiary, under indefinite sentence, possibly 45 years, as the explosives were used in Middletown robbery. Two other members of the gang have since been captured, making the four who did both jobs and more, using a high-power Hudson for safety.

A lad, probably 13 years of age, from Lakeport, spent the night in Harrington's barn at Hopland Monday, took breakfast at the Henderson home Tuesday, told many stories of his plans. He seemed to be touring the country for pleasure. He seems to be an orphan, nephew of Charles Kuppington, who freights between Hopland and Lakeport. He came over as usual Tuesday, and when the boy saw him, he left on foot toward Ukiah. He said he walked from Lakeport. Kuppington inquired for the boy, but when he gets hungry he may find his way back to Lakeport.

The decorators are putting the finishing touches on the former "Velvet Ice Cream Parlors" preparatory to its speedy opening by Mrs. L. Robinson, who will conduct a confectionary, including cold drinks for hot weather and hot drinks for cold weather, with lunches.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Burns of San Francisco, are on their Hopland ranch for a vacation visit. He is one of the largest stockholders in the Bank of Hopland and also owns one of the very finest ranches in Mendocino county. We may be authorized next week to tell you something that will make you sit up and take notice.

Mr. Rachel Rush of Los Angeles after making a visit to his friend, Mr. Ives, at Duncan Springs, Hopland, and forming a very favorable opinion of our scenery and people, left us last Tuesday, promising to return for a longer stay, if someone can afford to board him free.

The Bank of Hopland informs us that all who hold Liberty Bonds, of the first, second or third issue, may to their advantage and pleasure exchange them for permanent bonds without expense.

Banker's Garage of Ukiah was well represented among our patrons this week, nine Ford trucks, with more to follow, stopping here for oil and gas, on their way from San Francisco. There must be something doing about Ukiah to justify such consignments. Hopland says "Keep Ukiah Koming."

Mr. H. Edwards, who is erecting bill beards for the United Tire Company, has just completed an elegant sign for the town of Hopland, on the highway north of town.

Mr. E. Symon of Santa Rosa, has been here several days on business. There is much mystery in the air about Hopland these days.

Mr. Prosper Hontou captured six coyotes Monday which netted him $48, besides the hides. The bounty on the other side of the Russian river would have been many times that much.

Miss Kent of Berkeley, with two daughters of a brother, came to Hopland last Saturday to visit her aunt, Mrs. Charles Meyers for a week or more.

R. E. Shimmin, cashier of the Bank of Hopland, motored to Willits last Saturday with Mrs. Shimmin, Miss Evelyn, and Master James Shimmin, to visit among former neighbors and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Geary from Santa Rosa have moved into Judge Gary's cottage in Hopland as their future home.

Mr. Frank Sierck, section foreman for the N. W. Pacific, went to Livermore to take his father home last week end.

Mrs. L. Robinson has been in Ukiah several days on business.

Mr. Ray Miller, formerly of the Lake County Transportation Company, has secured a good position with the contractors of the $400,000,000 dam above Willits.

Engineer Rice, after long and faithful service with the highway contractors, has returned to San Francisco. We miss him very much.

John Henderson and son came down from Ukiah Saturday to visit relatives and friends. Mrs. T. Henderson, his mother, went home with him.

Miss Hope Nourse, of our high school faculty, with her mother, made a trip to Santa Rosa last Saturday.

Mr. A. W. Foster of the Foster Company, came up from San Francisco Saturday.

Nibs Harrington went to Ukiah on business last Saturday.

Mr. James Robertson made a visit to San Francisco for the week end.

A fund is being provided for cash prizes at May Day picnic.

We are notified that the score of the baseball game between the Talmage Indian team from Ukiah and the Hopland Athletic Club stood 20 to 1 in favor of Hopland.

Mr. Preston of Ukiah, president of the Bank of Hopland, is down attending a meeting of the directors.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Petray of Healdsburg spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bailhache.

Mrs. James Ward of Cloverdale is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barker of Cloverdale visited at the Wm. Duncan home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Grant of Cloverdale visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Clendenin Sunday.

Money in Seaweed.

All along the coast of Norway seaweed is gathered and burned. This seaweed grows in veritable forests, and is not of the common grass variety. In fact, there are actual trees of it five or six feet high, with stems like ropes and leaves tough as leather. They begin to sprout early in the year and cover the ocean bed with a dense, impenetrable brush.

As a source of income the seaweed industry now surpasses the fisheries, and it is more valuable than agriculture, even in one of the leading farming districts of Norway. Owners of land abutting on the seashore reap a great harvest.

After the weeds have been burned the ashes are exported to England, where valuable chemical substances are extracted from them. The most important of these products is iodine.

Detour When Necessary.

Many people flatly refuse to take detours. The consequence is they remain right where they are. Either they do not possess the necessary patience and energy or they have an inflated notion that they can disregard life's laws. Of course you can sit down and fossilize wherever you want to so long as you don't impede the progress of others. But people who want to get on in life take the detours and make the most of them. They are no fonder of life's grades and dangerous ditches than other people, but they want to get somewhere. So they make the venture. And when they keep their eyes and ears open, and keep control of their progress there is little danger of failing in safe conduct. Meanwhile they are adapting themselves to circumstances and getting a grip on the world. They are learning how the people who always live on the detour have to struggle to get along. The knowledge will be helpful in the days that are to be.

Lost Honors Magellan Won.

An astrologer deprived Ruy Faleiro, the famous Spanish astronomer, of sharing joint honors with Ferdinand Magellan in the discovery of the Pacific ocean and the straits of Magellan. He had joint contract with Magellan from Charles V under which the two were to have one-twenty-fifth of the clear profits of the journey as well as governorship of all the lands discovered on the trip, with the rank of adelantados. This was to be theirs for life and then handed down to their heirs forever. Before the date of sailing Faleiro had his horoscope cast. The astrologer said that this told him the trip would be fatal, and Faleiro stayed behind when Magellan and his five ships sailed from Seville, Spain.

Established Trade Routes for American Commerce Cover the Whole World, Practically Going to Every Recognized Port.

Our new established trade routes cover the whole world, writes C. H. Claudy, in the Scientific American. Thus there are 47 steamers sailing to the Argentine and they sail from New York, Boston, Mobile, New Orleans, Wilmington, Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick and Jacksonville. Two steamers go from New York to Pernambuco, Maceio and Bahia, North Brazil. Twenty-five sail to mid-Brazil (Rio and Santos), from Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick and Jacksonville. Five steamers from New York and one from New Orleans make regular trips to the west coast of South America, ranging from Guayaquil, Ecuador, to Valparaiso, Chile.

Two steamers go from New York to North Africa and Egypt; five from New York to the Dutch East Indies; two from New York to Bombay and other Indian ports; three from New York to Spain (Barcelona, Valencia, Cadiz and the Seville). Every two months a steamer goes from the metropolis to Danzig, and every six weeks one or two steamers sail out the Narrows to Constantinople and the Black Sea ports. Three steamers sail from New York to West Africa, two to South Africa, three to Australia and New Zealand, and three to China, Japan and the Philippines. Fifteen steamers leave the Golden Gate, one every ten days, for China and Japan, and two more from the same port go to Europe via the far East.

We have a steamer from New York to Genoa, and one from Baltimore to the same port; while two serve Grecian ports from New York. To London we send six steamers from New York, three from Philadelphia, two from Baltimore and one from Norfolk. We send six to Liverpool from New York, two from Boston, five from Baltimore, one from Norfolk and one from Galveston. New York says goodby to three ships clearing for Glasgow on monthly sailings, four to Havre, and three to Bordeaux. The latter port is also served from Boston and Baltimore with two steamers and one steamer, respectively.

New York sends two steamers to Marseilles and seven to Antwerp, while two from Boston, and one each from Philadelphia and Baltimore go to the same destination. Rotterdam sees New York ships to the number of ten, and from Philadelphia two. Copenhagen and Gothenburg are served by five steamers from New York while the West Indian ports are visited regularly by two steamers from Wilmington, two from Charleston, two from Savannah, two from Brunswick and two from Jacksonville.

Meanwhile, the balance of the list of ships is engaged in going to every port of the world where a cargo can go—and the flag at the stern is the Stars and Stripes.

Woman's Sphere in Japan.

"Most servants in Japan can only cook a little rice in plain, hot water," says a Tokyo lawyer. "They know nothing about fixing all the good things that go with the rice. That is why the women of Japan are too busy to get lonely or to need clubs."—Adelaide Lyons in World Outlook.

PARK TO REPLACE VILLAGE

Extension of Public Domain Makes Necessary Sacrifice of Port Kennedy in Pennsylvania

The state of Pennsylvania, through the Valley Forge park commission, has condemned by right of eminent domain the entire village of Port Kennedy, on the Schuylkill river, near Valley Forge. The place has a population of about six hundred, two churches, a schoolhouse, a home for poor children, three picturesque old mills and about 160 dwellings. All but the schoolhouse and the churches are to be torn down to make way for the enlargement of Valley Forge park, and the whole village is wondering where it is going to find new homes.

A few years ago Valley Forge park contained only 250 acres. Somebody discovered that the act creating the park provided that it should lie within the outposts of Washington's encampment. Port Kennedy seems to come within that territory, although there has been considerable historical argument on the point.

For some years the villagers have been fighting the plans of the commission to extend the park, but now they have given up. The Rev. Rhen Coffman, pastor of the Port Kennedy Presbyterian church, is leading the movement to establish a new community. "This presents a big problem to most of us," he says. "The majority of Port Kennedy people earn their living at the near-by magnesia mills and getting away from here may mean serious financial loss. We have been organizing prospective lot buyers and have obtained an option on a 90-acre tract that is still within walking distance of the mills; 41 of our people have agreed to buy lots there."—Boston Evening Transcript.

New Cancer Theory.

Contrary to general belief Dr. L. M. Ottofy, a prominent St. Louis physician, declared at a recent convention of the American Association for Medico-Physical Research held in Chicago that the cancer is not hereditary, not contagious and is positively curable.

"One result of the great war," he said, "has been the great prevalence of cancer, the result of wounds and other causes. But cancer is not contagious and, like leprosy, while it may be latent in the system, does not develop in the offspring of the one affected.

"Cancer is absolutely curable, in from one to three months, if treated in its earlier stages, and for this treatment I use a pus serum made from the afflicted patient and then reinjected into the veins of the patient from whom it is so obtained. The treatment is not painful and does not confine the patient to bed, but permits of the usual work or duty each day while under treatment."

Senator Johnson's Predicament

Senator Johnson has the reputation of being a very astute politician, but it would seem that he has placed himself in a very peculiar predicament.

It is generally supposed that a large majority of the people of the United States of all parties are in favor of some kind of a League of Nations. Some would prefer the League as agreed on by the representatives of the allies at Versailles. Others prefer to have some reservations, but from all indications an overwhelming majority favor a league of some kind, thinking that at least the experiment could not place the world in a worse position than it now is, and on the other hand that it might and probably would lead to a reduction of armies and navies and armaments, and in this way reduce the burden of taxation for all nations and lessen the probability of war.

In the face of this seemingly overwhelming sentiment, the Republican party will hardly dare to adopt a platform opposing every kind of a league, as to do so would invite certain disaster in the November election.

Senator Johnson has from first to last been one of the few irreconcilables in the Senate, who have opposed every kind of a league and not only has he voted against it both with and without reservations, but has campaigned extensively and in his speeches everywhere has placed himself squarely on record against a league of any sort.

It would be an absurdity for the Republican Party to adopt a platform favoring the league, yet nominate as its standard bearer for President a man who by every act and work has and is bitterly opposing it, and is denouncing it in the strongest possible terms of which he is capable. It will therefore seem that the Senator is somewhat in the position of the man who went out on a limb of a tree and then sawed the limb off.

Although the San Francisco Examiner, Chronicle and Call are trying in every way to boost the Senator for President, and are trying to leave the impression that he is stampeding the East by his speeches, yet the eastern news as we get it from other sources is not so optimistic. Some of the followers of Judge Hughes have been so unkind as to call attention to the fact that in the last presidential election, although Senator Johnson was able to carry this state for himself by about 300,000 majority, yet the Judge lost out in the presidential vote and these supporters of the Judge hint also, that the Senator not only did nothing to help the Judge but that he let it be known to his lieutenants that he was not at all particular about Hughes carrying the state despite the fact that for appearances he made a few speeches at the last minute. Some go even further and hint that the Senator wanted the Presidency in 1920, and thought that if Hughes was elected in 1916 he would probably be a candidate for re-election and this would interfere with the Senator's ambitions; so on the whole, the Senator's position is not an altogether happy one for a man who wishes the Republican nomination for the Presidency this year.

Johnson's Eastern Vote

The Johnson supporters are making much over the votes that he received in Michigan and Illinois. An analysis of the situation will show to the careful observer that these results should not surprise nor alarm Johnson's opponents for the following reasons:

First, Senator Johnson is the only man of any following who has from first to last been absolutely opposed to a League of Nations; this being the case, he is the natural heir to the votes of that element;

On the other hand, Wood, Lowden, Harding, Hoover and all the other aspirants for the Republican nomination of any strength, have announced themselves in favor of a league, thereby dividing the league supporters among several candidates.

In Illinois Johnson received between 40,000 and 50,000 votes, Lowden received more than 220,000 and Wood something like 100,000 votes, to say nothing of the scattering votes for other candidates. The Johnson vote was therefore less than one-sixth of the combined vote of Lowden and Wood who are both pro-league candidates.

* * * * *

Several days before the election, the papers announced that Senator Johnson's eastern managers had instructed his friends in Illinois to write his name on the ballot, while Hoover especially requested that his friends make no effort in his behalf as he did not wish to oppose Governor Lowden in his own state. This will account largely for the difference in their respective votes in the Illinois primary.

* * * * *

Again, it is specially significant that in Michigan Johnson's vote was confined almost entirely to the city of Detroit, and in Illinois to the city of Chicago. These are two of the most congested cities in the United States.

It is a well known fact that in the congested cities of our country are found nearly all of the pro-German, I. W. W. and other anti-American and radical elements. With these elements Senator Johnson is admitted to be strong. His position on the League of Nations draws to him the pro-German vote. His criticism and condemnation of the authorities for their activities in suppressing treasonable utterances and propaganda on platform and in the press, as an unwarranted restriction of free speech, and personal liberty, have greatly pleased these anti-American and radical elements and they are showing their approval by favoring him with their votes.

These facts show that the Senator has a distinctly class following in the East, and what the significance of this is, the great mass of the loyal American voters may well ponder.

Prospects for Democratic success look better and better. The row between Hiram and the regulars is growing noiserer and noiser. Johnson is villifying everybody who is against him, pursuing the tactics he employed in his California campaigns. The situation resolves itself about as follows: If Hi gets the nomination, the regulars are going to be so sore that they will all vote the Democratic ticket. If Hi doesn't get the nomination (and Lodge, et al, will see that he doesn't) he will lead a bunch off into the wilderness, as did Teddy Roosevelt, and again split the grand old party from skull to tailbone. So the Democrats, a united party, are taking great comfort, attending strictly to their knitting and abiding the decision of their convention.

* * * * *

The question of who is to be the Democratic candidate is arousing a great deal more worry among the Republicans than it is among the Democrats. Suffice it to say that there is a wealth of suitable material in the ranks of Democracy and whoever is selected by the convention will have the backing of a united party. The outlook was never brighter, from a Democratic standpoint.

DISASTROUS FIRE SWEEPS TOWN OF WESTPORT FRI.

(Mendocino Beacon)

Westport, which has suffered disastrously from fires the past several years, was the victim of another serious conflagration early Friday morning when the Westport hotel, an old landmark, and a number of other buildings went up in smoke before the flames could be got under control.

The fire started in a woodshed back of the hotel about 1:30 Friday morning. When the alarm was given the hotel was on fire and despite all efforts to save it was soon a mass of smoking ruins. The fire jumped across the street and attacked the former Borgerson saloon. This burned rapidly and the heat from this blaze ignited the store of Dr. Smith. Dr. Smith's warehouse soon caught on fire and later a building owned by Joseph King. All these were swept away before the flames were subdued.

After the town was thoroughly roused quite a fight was made to save the destroyed buildings, but early in the contest the hose was burned in two and from then on the firefighters were badly handicapped. The strong southeaster blowing at the time also made it difficult to combat the flames.

The loss will probably run to sixteen or seventeen thousand dollars with only a portion covered by insurance. Dr. Smith carried about $4,000 in insurance while his loss will be double that amount. The Westport hotel was owned by John Borgerson and leased to F. M. Filmer. It was not learned whether or not insurance was carried on this structure and its contents.
